

ATOPIC SKIN DISEASE

THE ONLINE COMMUNITY FOR PRACTITIONERS AND PATIENTS

www.atopicskindisease.com

Habit reversal and chronic atopic eczema in childhood

by Dr Christopher Bridgett & Dr Peter Norén

When scratching because of itch repeats often enough it becomes a habit - then it can happen without itch, and without awareness. This is a damaging complication of atopic eczema that can prevent usual treatment healing the skin. Habit reversal is needed - together with optimal topical treatment: a combined approach!

This dry, thick and flaky skin is chronic atopic eczema:

caused by habitual rubbing and scratching Saying “Stop Scratching” can make things worse... and wearing gloves
and keeping nails short...
may not help.

What can work is a combined approach ...
Optimal topical treatment + habit reversal!
Then healing will follow...

How to do habit reversal...successfully

1. Preparation

Success depends on first understanding the problem - then, making some time to solve it: perhaps 3 to 4 weeks. You may need help from others.

2. Awareness

Next, before starting habit reversal, awareness of what is happening is necessary. Over a few days a younger child is observed to see especially when, where and how scratching and rubbing is happening. For older children scratching episodes are counted on a hand tally counter and totals recorded.

3. Habit reversal

NB Start habit reversal* only after 1 & 2 above.

For all scratching and rubbing by younger children someone needs to be there to provide simple skin-safe diversions and distractions: hand holding, drawing activities, and playing games - all without saying “stop scratching”. Plans are made in advance, especially for difficult situations. Older children can help themselves by learning how to make fists for 30 seconds instead of scratching, then pinching any itch until it goes away: others help by giving positive prompts! With persistent practice habit reversal works really quickly.

* Topical treatment

It is important that prescribed creams and ointments are used correctly at the same time as habit reversal - a COMBINED APPROACH.

With this combined approach - habit reversal and optimal topical treatment - chronic eczema can heal. Then it is important to know how to keep the skin in good shape by dealing quickly with eczema flare-ups.

Find out more about habit reversal and atopic eczema at www.atopicskindisease.com